Dear Prof. Pallikaris:

As we make plans to attend the Aegean Cornea X Meeting in Crete this summer, we are mindful of the 20th anniversary of VEIC and the numerous innovative ideas and new technologies that VEIC has contributed to the worldwide ophthalmic community.

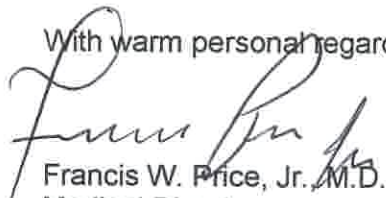

For the past 20 years, VEIC has been instrumental in developing and improving surgical and medical treatments of eye diseases.

May we take this opportunity to acknowledge your valued contributions personally, Prof. Pallikaris, to the study and teaching of ophthalmology, and to commend VEIC for its support of education through its training programs, fellowships and international conferences. The meetings sponsored by VEIC, such as Aegean Cornea, provide a unique opportunity for surgeons and scientists from around the world to meet and learn from each other in lively discussions and informative presentations. Many meaningful opportunities for collaboration result from such meetings.

We look forward to our participation in the Aegean Cornea X Meeting, and to the opportunity to associate with and learn from internationally recognized friends and colleagues, such as yourself.

On a personal note, we are extending our visit to Greece this summer, and will be spending an extra week on cruise and tour of your beautiful country.

With warm personal regards,
